Scanners at Work
by Rian Farley

Shown using one of the Durham Preservation and Digitization Committee's scanners is former DHS and DIS history teacher, Dr. Linda Sundquist Nassie. The family heirloom yearbooks, dated 1917, belonging to her great aunt and grandmother were too fragile to be scanned on a conventional flat-top scanner. The books were safely scanned without disruption of the pages and binding via this new method now available. Mrs. Nassie made a generous contribution to the P&D Fund, a Durham Community Foundation sub-fund in the now ongoing fall drive.

Upcoming "Community Days" sponsored by the P&D Committee, a sub-group of the Durham Friends of the Library will make it possible for Durham community members to upload their various photo collections and ephemera to the growing online presence on the DurhamMediaPreserved website.
